

The Sandstone is comprised of approximately 2150 acres of monumental red rocks, towering ponderosa pines, lush green meadows, meandering streams and quiet ponds. Within this pastoral setting trophy class elk, mule deer, black bear, golden eagles, and numerous small game also call the ranch home. The Sandstone is perfectly nestled in the Plum Creek Valley and is the only parcel of this size and quality remaining in the Denver / Colorado Springs corridor. The ranch also shares approximately 3 miles of common boundary with Pike National Forest, your gateway to an additional 200 square miles of forested Rocky Mountain foothills rich with wildlife and trails.
